property is exempt; either if it's leased to a governmental property, it's used for a governmental purpose, if it's leased to a charity, it's used for a charitable purpose. Should that property be taxed? The answer in the committee amendments is no. Now if you have...now I hope that gives you the flavor of the iterations that you can go through and that you have to make choices about whether or not you want that property to be subject to tax. And as I've indicated, we'll give you a handout later that will go through those iterations and spell out the choices that are presented in the committee amendments. There is, in the committee amendments, basically two different structures that you would need to pay attention to. If it is not used, then it's subject to the in lieu of tax payment, and on the other hand, if it's owned by a governmental entity but it is leased to another governmental entity or a charity and it's not used for an exempt or governmental purpose, then that would be subject to tax. I think all the other circumstances, whether it's leased property, it turns out exempt. So that's, basically, the choice that the committee amendments present, and as I would indicate, even though you've probably just had calls from airports, the bill would potentially have an impact on more than just airports. The committee amendment also explicitly affects some foundations and there would be other governments other than airports that would own property that would not be used for a public purpose.

SPEAKER KRISTENSEN: Mr. Clerk.

CLERK: Mr. President, Senator Wickersham has an amendment, AM1159. (See page 1352 of the Legislative Journal.) That's the first one I have, Senator, AM1159.

SENATOR WICKERSHAM: Okay, thank you.

SPEAKER KRISTENSEN: Yes, Senator Wickersham, you're recognized to open on the amendment.

SENATOR WICKERSHAM: Okay, sorry to tax your voice, Mr. Speaker. Members of the body, I just laid that one out there. (Laughter) I think we're getting a little thin or a little dense. Okay. All right, the amendment that is before you now is in your machines. It has not yet been printed in the Journal. It
